WESTINGHOUSE PLANS RE-HIRING

Volunteers Offer Detention Home Plan

Annual Cost Set At $2,200

Judge, Board In Heated Talk

By MARGUERITE MILLER

An offer from the Volunteers of America to set up and maintain a county juvenile detention home at an estimated annual cost of $2,200 was revealed yesterday afternoon by county commissioners at a meeting with a county bar association committee.

The offer, which was made in a letter to commissioners from Lt. Maj. R. L. Gutterman of the Volunteers was disclosed during a heated session at the courthouse.

Involved in the discussion were the commissioners, headed by Guy Stewart; Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer who has been campaigning for a detention home, and a three-member committee named by the Richland County Bar association.

The bar committee is headed by Atty. George W. Biddle. Other members are Atty C. H. Huston and Glenn W. Marriott.

Stewart, who insisted throughout the meeting that the commissioners were "given no authority to look for a detention home" by Judge Cramer, said commissioners would investigate the Volunteers of America offer and that "something will be done about it this week, probably."

'NOTHING NEW'

Judge Cramer said the offer was "nothing new" and that he had talked to Lt. Maj. Gutterman about setting up a home, but that prices had not been quoted. The judge said he must be able to pick the home matron himself and that the home would have to be approved by the state fire marshal.

The offer from Gutterman included payment of $50 per month for the matron; $60 per month for janitor; $75 per month for expenses and 50 cents for each meal served the children in the home.

Atty. Marriott asked where a "competent woman" for a detention home" could be hired for $50 a month."

Atty. Biddle told the commis-

Claim Reds Re-Arming

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The administration is preparing to lay before Congress secret intelligence reports which indicate that Russia is arming for war, it was learned today.

Informed sources said American and allied agents have cracked the curtain of secrecy surrounding Soviet military preparations. Their reports, it was said, will be used to back up President Truman's request for a $1,450,000,000 arms aid program for free nations.

Latest figures available here indicate that Russia and her satellites have 6,000,000 men under arms. U. S. officials said Russia alone has 170 combat divisions, and her satellities 90 more. Last year, it was estimated that Russia's ground strength could be raised to 300 divisions within 60 days.

Aviation experts estimate that Russia has between 12,000 and 15,000 operative war planes.

A recent foreign analysis of Soviet air strength said Russian production of a copy of the American B - 29 bomber has reached 75 to 100 per month. American authorities believe this figure too high.

Mayor Beats Off Attack By Klan

DONALSONVILLE, Ga. — (AP) — The mayor of a South Georgia country town said today he beat off with gunfire a mob of Ku Klux Klansmen who tried to kidnap him.

Mayor C. L. Drake of nearby Iron City said "seven or eight automobiles loaded with uniformed and masked klansmen" approached his house about 3 a. m. Sunday, July 17.

"I opened fire on them and they scattered in a hurry," he said "When they shot back they were too far away to do any harm."

Dog Resents Invasion of Private Plug

CINCINNATI — (UP) —Sam Rue, 26, city fireman, eyed his chewed ankle today and vowed to keep an eye on any and all nearby dogs when he tests another fireplug.

Rue was testing a plug yesterday when a dog walked up and bit him on the ankle.

"He acted like he owned that plug," said Rue. "He braced his legs and growled. I said, 'go away. I'm just testing it.' Guess he didn't believe me."

Huge Policy 'Fix' Bared After Raid

Ohio Banker In Crooked Ring

NEW YORK — (INS) — New York and New Jersey authorities mopped up today an interstate policy ring so crooked it refused to give its sucker clients even a 1,000-to-1 break.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced in New York City the arrests of 11 persons in smashing the $50,000,000 a year ring after an 18-month investigation. Seven were nabbed at the Newark, N. J. headquarters of the ring.

Among those held was Dennison Duble, secretary of the Cincinnati Clearing House association; a man described as "one of the top underworld figures" of the east; and a reputed figure in New Jersey rackets.

Hogan said that Duble, who has waived extradition, admitted that for the last year and a half he faked reports of the association's daily figures in order to assure the ring a handsome profit.

This, Hogan said, is the way the ring worked:

Tickets, each bearing three figures, were sold for from five cents to a dollar to a clientele ranging from New Jersey to Ohio.

The daily winning number was based on the second and third figures in the noon bond sales totals in New York, and the second figure in the Cincinnati Clearing house daily totals.

Two New York newspapers which published these figures offered to stop when they learned that the numbers had become part of a racket, Hogan said. But they were asked to continue while the investigation progressed.

Hogan declared:

"The winning number was rigged. The people who played didn't have a chance.

Hogan charged that William Tiplitz, 48, of Newark, N. J., would get the noon bond figures early every day from a Wall Street brokerage house. Then, Hogan said, he would call Daniel Zwillman, 42, to find which numbers were being favored in the betting.

This information was passed on to Duble, who rigged the last number to make certain the ring's payoff was small.

4 Bunnies Eat Pablum

Storybook Names Used

Four little rabbits have stepped out of the pages of a story book and taken up their home with Richard Craig, 10 and Carol Ann Craig, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Craig, 146 Marion avenue.

Flopsy, Mopsy, Cottontail and Peter, the rabbits famed in children's lore, have found their replicas in the four little brown bunnies which a neighbor found while mowing a lawn in Woodland. Knowing that Richard had a "hankering" for rabbits, he brought them home and gave them to his young neighbor

They were so tiny when found that their eyes were still closed and feeding was a problem. But Mrs. Craig remembered the pablum and milk formula for her own children and decided to try it out on the bunnies. They thrived and grew.

Now their eyes are open and they are frisking around in the rabbit hutch on the back porch, even beginning to nibble a little greenstuff which Richard faithfully serves them.

By school time, they should be well - grown rabbits and Mrs. Craig thinks that Richard might even take them to school to show his playmates in the fifth grade at Brinkerhoff school.

Chief Awaits Check By State

Wants New Building At Weldon Site

Fire Chief L. J. Steele said today he would like to see a new building replace the fire-gutted Weldon building at Fourth and Main streets.

The 75-year-old brick and frame building was heavily damaged by fire early yesterday. Damage estimates rose to $110,000 today.

The chief said the building had not been "officially" condemned, adding that an order for a new building or authorization for the present structure to be repaired will come from the state fire inspectators' office. A representative from the office is expected here this week.

When asked if he would recommend that a new structure be built, the chief answered: "Let's say I would like to see a new, fireproof building there."

Chief Steele said the Weldon building was "pretty badly gutted."

William M. Weldon jr., 575 Woodhill road, owner, said he understood the state men would inspect the building the "latter part of the week."

PLANS TO REBUILD

"Nothing will be done until after that inspection," he added. Weldon said yesterday that plans were under way for the restoration of the site, which houses the Sutter Candy company, the Main Street Isaly Dairy store and 13 businesses and professional offices.

Meanwhile, the fire department kept a rope blockade around the building's sidewalk as a precaution against falling bricks from the collapsed roof.

Dr. B. W. Stern, who occupied one of the two second-floor offices, facing on North Main street, said today damage to his equipment would run from $8,000 to $10,000. Both Dr. Stern's office and an adjoining office, occupied by Dr. O. J. Marcus, chiropodist, were damaged by smoke and water.

The estimated loss allowed $50,000 for repairing the present structure. The other major item was an estimated $30,000 loss in merchandise and equipment sustained by Sutter.

13-Year-Old Shoots Self

YOUNGSTOWN — (INS) — A 13-year-old boy who shot himself because his mother "did not let me go to church" fought for his life today in Youngstown city hospital.

The boy, identified as Frederick Hogler of Mogadore, is confined to the south side unit of the hospital in critical condition.

He shot himself yesterday in the juvenile detention home in Youngstown with a .32-caliber automatic pistol. The bullet entered his right temple and emerged from the left side of his head.

Arms Aid Battle Underway

GOP Seeking 50% Slash

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican backers of military aid for western Europe moved today to cut by more than half President Truman's $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program.

Greeted with a storm of criticism, the President's proposal seemed to have headed the bipartisan foreign policy toward one of its severest tests in Congress.

Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Dulles (R-NY), who have taken active parts in trying to keep that policy alive, were obviously irked that the State department had ignored their advice to submit only a token arms program to a Congress already fretting about foreign spending.

They felt themselves open to attack from GOP colleagues on the ground that the administration seemed to be making co-operation a one-way street.

WORK ON NEW PLAN

Nevertheless, the two were reported working with Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) on an alternative plan. Under it Congress might be asked to approve a $77,000,000 outlay to forward $450,000,000 in surplus military equipment to North Atlantic Pact signers and make about $200,000,000 more available to buy new equipment for them at home and abroad.

This would be in addition to about $325,000,000 to continue arms aid for Greece and Turkey, the amount the President asked.

Thus the total cash outlay under the alternative plan would be less than half of the total sought by Mr. Truman. He also asked the $77,000,000 for repairing, packaging and shipping surplus supplies along with about $1,000,000,000 for new equipment for eight Atlantic Pact signers.

This alternate proposal, just taking shape, represented the first move toward compromising a program that stirred a storm of criticism from both Democrats and Republicans. The criticism was heavier in volume than the approval Mr. Truman's plan got from administration supporters when he formally submitted it yesterday.

500 Americans Told To Flee

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government today warned approximately 900 Americans living in five South China provinces to flee before the advance of communist armies from the north.

A notice sent out by the embassy office in Canton was released by the State department. It reported that Americans caught in communist areas of China lack adequate protection, may be threatened by arrest or mob action, and face difficulties in arranging travel.

Cooler Due After Hot 92

Relief from the heat wave is in sight, but the weatherman wasn't sure how long it will take to get here.

For most of the nation this was the fourth day of climbing temperatures and high humidity. Cooler weather was forecast for the Rockies, the northern plains and the Pacific coast, but for the rest of the county it was just more sticky heat.

The Mansfield high yesterday 92 while the low for the 24-hour period was 72.

There were forecasts for widely-scattered thundershowers in the midwest and great plains, but they would bring no relief, the forecaster said. They would only raise the humidity readings.

The outlook for Ohio is "mostly fair and quite warm today and tonight except for a few widely scattered evening showers. Partly cloudy and more humid Wednesday with scattered showers."

In parts of south Texas flash floods brought other troubles besides heat. At Pleasanton and Jourdanton, residents were cleaning up after a flash flood which forced lowlanders to higher ground and blocked some highways. Eight inches of rain had fallen in a few hours.

Readings of 100 degrees were recorded at such widely scattered points as Charlotte, S. C., and Las Vegas, Nev., yesterday, and Blythe, Cal., and Yuma, Ariz., both reported 106.

Senate In Hot Fight

Aid Program Starts Battle

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A short-tempered, irritable Senate waded deeper today into a bitter dispute over the $5,723,000,000 foreign aid program.

The strain of the long session was beginning to show in the debate which centered on money for the second year of the European Recovery program.

Senators snapped at each other angrily late yesterday over an issue that few had thought would cause a ripple. The major issues were yet to come.

The Senate voted $344,000 to keep a congressional "watchdog" committee checking on recovery spending. But not before Majority Leader Lucas of Illinois stirred up a wordy scrap by trying — and failing — to have the funds cut to $200,000.

On top of this Senator Ellender (D-La) had his colleagues buzzing over his report that the Marshall plan is threatened with failure because of a reported feeling that American policy in Europe is dominated by Great Britain.

Ellender is just back from a trip to Italy, where he attended a World Health congress.

Another Shift To Be Added

Production Step-Up Sought

Tentative plans to step up production at the Mansfield Westinghouse plant, necessitating the recall of workers to set up a second shift on assembly lines, were announced today by a company spokesman.

A company spokesman said workers will be recalled in the roaster and refrigerator departments.

Because of the two-week vacation shutdown at the plant, details of the back-to-work program were not immediately available today. It is expected that in excess of 1,000 persons who had previously been furloughed will be called back.

The plant is closed for vacation until the second week in August. The workers are expected to be added at the end of the shut-down.

STOCKS REDUCED

Expanded refrigerator sales which have drastically reduced the firm's inventories are responsible for the move to boost production, it was indicated. This has been unofficially attributed to the success of an intensive sales campaign plus a general trend throughout the nation to a business revival.

Curtailment of employment at the Westinghouse plant began in February when the firm returned to a five-day week in the refrigeration department and laid off 500 employes. Approximately 3,450 workers had been furloughed from Jan. 1 to May 21, with employment moving far below the post-war peak of 8,000 in 1948.

The roaster assembly line, down for several weeks, was resumed for one day prior to the annual vacation, which started on Monday of this week. A company spokesman stated the line will be continued in operation following vacation.

Although the plant at present has only a maintenance crew and skeleton staff on duty, arrangements to set up the new refrigeration assembly line are reported already in progress. The change requires the advance booking of supplies to be in readiness on the line when workers are recalled.

Boost Steel Wage Scale

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Minimum wage rates in iron and steel plants having government contracts were doubled today and Labor Secretary Tobin said increases for other industries are forthcoming.

CIO President Philip Murray termed Tobin's decision to hike the wage scale which has been in effect since 1939 a "statesmanlike action."

New rates are $1.23 an hour seven midwestern states west Pacific coast states; $1.19 in seven midwesterdn states west of the Mississippi and in East St. Louis, Ill.; and $1.08½ cents in the south.

(Officials at Empire steel corporation, Mansfield, reported today they have no government contracts and the new wage scale will not affect local wages.)

Old minimums ranged from 45 to 62½ cents an hour.

The ruling comes at a time when a presidential fact-finding board is preparing to open hearings on the wage dispute between Murray's million - member steelworkers union and the sprawling steel industry.

CIO steelworkers currently are working under a 60 - day strike truce while the fact - finders complete their task.

24 Dead, 60 Hurt In Arsenal Blast

TARANCON, SPAIN — (UP)— Twenty-four persons were killed and at least 60 injured today in a terrific explosion that wrecked the military arsenal and destroyed dozens of nearby buildings here.

Authorities said there was no immediate evidence to show whether the blast resulted from sabotage or spontaneous combustion from the current heat wave.

Rescue operations were hampered by electric rationing.

West Europe Not Doing Its Part Under ERP

Baruch Sees Marshall Plan Aid as Failure

(Editor's Note—Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch believes that Marshall Plan spending must be tightened to force Western Europe to help itself instead of looking to America for aid. Baruch, returning from a European tour, feels that American workers and industry are being taxed far too heavily to support nations which have not made an all-out productive effort themselves He explained his views in a five-hour "informal" conversation aboard the liner Queen Mary with John Dienhart, political editor of the Chicago Herald American. This special dispatch, radioed by Dienhart, summarizes the views of the influential financier and adviser to presidents.)

By JOHN W. DIENHART
(Copyright 1949 by the Chicago Herald American).

ABOARD THE S.S. QUEEN MARY—(INS)—Bernard Baruch, American financier and adviser to presidents, returned to the United States today with a gloomy view regarding the effectiveness of the Marshall aid plan.

Baruch is convinced that the billions of dollars poured into financially-distressed nations have helped neither them nor the interests of the U.S. taxpayer as much as could be expected.

That is his conclusion after spending a month in England, France, Holland and Belgium, and conferring with such leaders as Winston Churchill (who in a Saturday night speech accused the Laborite government of "squandering" nearly eight billion dollars of American and Canadian aid)

Baruch believes that the loans or gifts to western Europe were not sufficiently conditioned upon European nations helping themselves regain their pre-war economic stability.

As a consequence he found that peoples abroad are not being required to produce to capacity and that their governments have not inaugurated obvious moves to improve business.

In short, both peoples and governments have come to look to America to keep them going, Baruch feels.

Baruch was not willing to be quoted in a formal interview because he now regards himself as a private citizen and because of the continuing conferences abroad of such figures as W. Averell Harriman, the Marshall Aid plan roving ambassador, U S. Ambassador to London Lewis Douglas, and Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder.

It is clear, however, from my conversations with him, that Baruch believes that while some good has been accomplished America could be saved billions of dollars if the whole program were evaluated and new loan conditions imposed.

He found in England, for example, that the country could balance the budget if 40 million more tons of coal were produced annually; instead miners are working a short week.

Further, Baruch expressed interest in the fact that Britain has 14 billion dollars in frozen pounds sterling which is not being employed to improve its financial situation.

In his opinion France appears to be recovering rapidly, but though in deadly fear of Russia and Germany the country is not requiring full production of raw materials and manufactured goods.

Holland and Belgium appear to Baruch to be making the most progress. But they, too, are not working to full capacity.

In contrast, Baruch feels that American workmen and business are being taxed heavily to permit Europeans to continue to evade hard work demanded by a serious situation in which they have been engulfed by the drains of war years.

Baruch is not opposed to peoples like the English adopting socialism, if that is what they want, but he holds that American loans should be secured and that further grants are unsecurable against industries which have become nationalized.

Baruch believes that a war with Russia can be averted.

He says the policy to be formulated by John J McCloy, U.S. military governor and high-commissioner— designate to Germany, concerning the future of Germany will determine the question of peace with Russia.

Baruch believes that McCloy is an exceptionally able official and he is optimistic of the future in this respect because he feels that up until now America has not had a German policy.

From his experience with the atomic commission Baruch does not believe Russia has the atom bomb or the knowledge to make one.

Baruch also declares that Russia does not own the satellite nations and knows that all would revolt in event of war.

Russia, in his opinion, has not sufficient troops to maintain both satellite control and carry on a war.

Columnist Offers a Poor Man's Guide To Wonders of Gotham

NEW YORK—So you're coming to visit New York this summer for the first time?

And your ailing rich uncle hasn't died yet and left you his money, so you have to travel on your own skinny pocketbook? And you want to know whether anybody can come here and have fun on a small budget?

Brother, at least 7,000,000 of the people who live here will tell you "Yes"—with some qualifications.

You can do it if you have a real curiosity to see and know as much as you can of this circus too big to put under canvas. But if your idea of heaven is to simper at gilded celebrities in plush supper clubs night after night — why, better wait until your uncle dies.

The best things in New York —its wonderful window displays its famous streets, its great stores, its history-crowded museums, its skyscrapers, its tremendous views—cost little or nothing to see. And the people, the fabulous people of this fabulous city, they are the best show of all—and free.

But there is a time to see things best. Go at the right time for each.

Go out to Coney Island on a steaming Sunday and see humanity on the half shell. That is still the New York that O. Henry wrote about. And so is the Bowery and Chinatown—and the edge of Greenwich Village. It's best to see them at night, and the subway will take you to any of those places for a dime.

But let's start at the beginning. When you get off your train or bus, treat yourself to a cab ride to your hotel. If you don't know a good, clean reasonab`-priced one, ask the hackie. Unless you give him the idea you're just in from Fort Knox, Kentucky, he'll steer you straight.

Even though your budget is tight you can still work it so that you eat at least once in a big - name restaurant, see a broadway play and take in a fine concert. Timing is important in these things too.

Go to the restaurant at lunch. The prices are usually scaled lower at mid-day—and you are just as likely to see a celebrity then. Hit the theater boxoffices half an hour before curtain time. At all except the top musicals or "Death of a Salesman" you'll probably be able to pick up a pair of tickets. "A Streetcar Named Desire" is now advertising good seats available for all performances. and my wife says it's the best play in town.

If you're a music lover, you can listen to some of the world's best talent at evening concerts under the stars at Lewisohn stadium. And the prices, tax paid, range from thirty cents to $2. Major league baseball isn't too high. Go to see the Dodgers play at night—then you won't have to add the cost of a bottle of sunburn lotion to the price of your bleacher seat.

DON'T FAIL to go up to the top of the Empire State building. Take a trip through Rockefeller Center. See the Rockettes in the Radio City Music hall. Ride the ferry to Staten Island and enjoy the greatest view and the longest over-water ride on the globe for a nickel. All are good buys.

But walking and gawking are the finest fun here if your arches are strong. Stroll through the garment district any week day at noon; Wall street, deserted on a Saturday afternoon and Times Square on Saturday night, the biggest country town in America.

Be blase as you meander along ritzy Park avenue. Don't try to rescue a lady if she appears to be choking to death in a mink coat. She's happy—and what better way can a lady die. Once I saw a lady leading a deer along there and nobody turned to look twice. Should you see an octopus on Park avenue leading Greta Garbo in chains, don't stare. Everybody'll know you're from out of town.

Two final important tips:

(1) Don't change any $2 (or $20) bills for strangers.

(2) When in doubt about anything, ask a cop. If you can't understand him, ask again. He may be from Brooklyn.

Works But Draws $357 Jobless Pay

Woman Fined $10 For Fraud

A 21 - year - old Mansfield woman was convicted in Municipal court this morning with accepting $357 unemployment compensation while she was employed at the Ramble Inn, 254 Park avenue east.

Inspector Donald Schindler, of the Bureau of Unemployment compensation, said today it was a "very flagrant violation."

The woman, Helen McCracken, 124 Cook road, had drawn compensation of $21 per week for 17 weeks. Her salary at the Ramble Inn was $38.50 per week.

Schindler said she had been drawing compensation since Feb. 1 and had been employed since March 1.

James V. Will, acting municipal judge fined her $10 and costs and sentenced her to 60 days in the county jail.

The jail sentence was suspended on condition that she make restitution of the $357.

Letters Aid Child's Fight For Recovery

The future looked brighter to a nine-year-old Mansfield girl today because a number of generous Mansfielders took time to send a letter or card to the little girl in General hospital.

Hospital attendants said they delivered a fat bundle of mail to Frances Prosser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Prosser, 734 Burger avenue, this morning. They estimated the bundle contained between 35 and 50 cards and letters.

The flood of "sunshine mail" began after a story in Sunday's News-Journal appealed to Mansfielders to drop the little girl a card or note and let her know she was not fighting alone.

Today the family physician said Frances, who was severly wounded in the right thigh when a 12-gauge shotgun was accidentally discharged at her home a week ago Monday, was coming along in good shape, but is still not completely out of danger.

"She was in good spirits, really elated when I saw her this morning," he added. "Those cards and letters have done a lot of good for her."

POPULAR GAME

"Chess is currently the most popular game at the YMCA," Maurice W. Taylor, general 'Y' secretary, said today. "The chess board is in constant use from morning to night," Taylor added. "A few nights ago, two of the boys were still playing when it was time to close up for the night, so Taylor told them to lock the door after them as soon as they finished their game. The boys finally left for home at 4 a. m. and were back the first thing in the morning to start all over again."

One of the Mansfield Public library's younger patrons is aiding the library staff in its efforts to interest children in summer reading. Kay Brewer, 48 Winwood drive, who was in the sixth grade at Prospect school last year, has drawn a set of pen and ink sketches of principal characters in children's books which are available at the library. The sketches, mounted on a large board in the children's room, are catching the eye of youthful readers and interesting them in the books they represent.

Paul s father, Paul Cropper sr., 468 West Third street, was cornered in a garage last Saturday by a bunch of hornets or yellow jackets. In reporting the story, somewhere along the involved routine which changes a piece of typewritten copy to a finished newspaper, the "S" in senior became the "J" in junior. New result—Paul jr. has been taking a lot of kidding over the situation in which his fathered became involved.

DENT IN HIS PLANS

It looks as if Floyd Dent's summer vacation will "go by the board" this year Asked this morning, when he expected to take his vacation, Dent said it didn't look as if he would have one. However, he thinks he may be able to get away for a little hunting for a day or two next fall. After the Camp Avery Hand season closes here on Aug. 6, Dent will go to Canada on Aug. 11 with the motor Scout Troop and remain there until Sept. 1. When he returns he'll make plans for attending school at Miami university for two weeks. A wedding of staff member, Carl Baughman, may further delay vacation plans. But there's that hunting. It's the thought of that that's keeping Dent going through the hot weather.

Fastest Growing

City, County Boost Population 8,147

Mansfield's population has grown more since 1940 than any other city in the area, according to figures compiled by the State Department of Health and released today by County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe.

In 1940 the population, according to the federal census, was 37,154. The population at the time of the survey last year was 46,100. (Generally accepted figure for the city population, including adjacent suburbs, is more than 50,000)

Richland county's population has grown 8,147 to 82,000, the release says

The flow of population has been into the cities from the rural sections. The number of persons living in the country has decreased in the period between the survey from 30,156 to 27,400.

Shelby's population has gone up from 6,643 to 8,500. Wolfe said part of the drop in rural and gain in urban population can be attributed to the incorporation of South Boulevards and similar sections into the cities of Mansfield and Shelby.

Area counties showed the following increases from 1940: Huron, 1,100; Holmes, 924, Crawford, 3,539; Knox, 4,876; Ashland, $3,115; Morrow, 754.

Bucyrians Get Allotment Pay

BUCYRUS — Mr and Mrs Melvin Ruble of 528 Russell avenue, Bucyrus, today proudly displayed a check for $390, which climaxed nearly five years' efforts to obtain a "GI" allotment for their daughter, now five years old

The Rubles adopted the child in August, 1944, but Mr. Ruble was sent overseas before the baby was formally adopted. Complications in preparing the proper forms to obtain a dependent's allowance resulted in Mrs. Ruble failing to receive any government allotment for the infant

After Mr Ruble's discharge in December, 1945, he made application for the allowance. Additional assistance from the Red Cross here resulted in the claim finally being approved

Act To Stimulate Buying

Men's Clothing To Cost Less

(By International News Service)

A series of price cuts in major phases of United States industry were announced today in an effort to spur sales.

The most dramatic slash was made by American Woolen company, the nation's largest manufacturer of wool fabrics.

It reduced prices on men's wear fabrics for next spring by as much as 19 per cent in a move aimed at stimulating lagging sales.

A company official described the cuts as the sharpest since the end of World War One, and said they should be reflected in lower retail clothing prices by next spring.

Wool textile manufacturing circles regarded the American Woolen action as a major event in the adjustment of the industry to current competitive conditions.

SEARS BARES SLASH

Sears Roebuck and Company, the nation's leading mail-order distributor, announced a slash in the price of farm implements ranging up to 16 percent.

Company officials said the price cuts were made in an effort to revive lagging implement sales.

Westinghouse Electric corporation followed the downward price adjustments by ordering reductions ranging up to $200 on sixteen radio models, effective immediately. Only last March, the company reduced its suggested list prices on nine radio models from 20 per cent to 50 percent.

Meantime, although the federal reserve board's industrial index for June fell to a new three-year low, government officials were encouraged by rising activity in the basic steel and automobile industries.

The American Iron and Steel institute announced that the nation's steel operating rate this week would rise to the best level in five weeks.

Help With Tax Reports

Semi-annual venders sales tax reports covering the period from Jan. 1 to June 30 are due and must be filed with Don H. Ebright, state treasurer, on or before Aug. 1, sales tax officials announced.

Examiners will be in the sales tax office at the courthouse everyday to and including Aug. 1 from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Venders are asked to bring all necessary information such as the copy of their previous report; pink slips and other records to verify stamp purchases for the period.

If a deficiency is indicated on the report due to the failure of vendors to cancel sufficient prepaid tax receipts to offset taxes due, a remittance should accompany the report in the amount of the deficiency. This remittance should be made payable to Ebright.

Examiners will be in the Ashland courthouse July, 28, 29 and Aug. 1 They will be in Loudonville, Shelby and Plymouth July 26 and in Bellville on the 27th and again in Shelby on July 28.

Children Find Army Clothing

A suitcase, containing army clothing and papers, discovered under the bridge on North Mulberry street yesterday, was held at the police department today.

Richard Lester, 111 West Sixth street, reported to police at 3:41 p m. that his children had found the suitcase under the bridge, just south of the B and O tracks.

Detective F. Bruce Friday said the clothing did not belong to the Air Force captains whose clothing was stolen from a car near the Brunswick hotel last week.

Gambling On Increase From Famed Spa At Saratoga To Ohio Cities

Saratoga will run wide open this year. But the sharpshooters anticipate recession "action" and would like to lay off a few cops. There is only one month of life at the famed spa, and the grafters have to have it on the line promptly. The collectors make no allowance for "good will," as they may in spots where the play is of longer duration. So many joints have folded suddenly that it has become the custom to pick up the "ice" every night, the amount rigidly set beforehand. The top gams may not bother with Saratoga at all this year.

For the first time since 1912 and the Becker - Rosenthal scandal, New York is pretty "open." The trade across the Hudson is drying up. Rooms with lavish hospitality and full casino layouts are running, especially on Riverside Drive and midtown locations near Fifth Avenue.

But Manhattan isn't an isolated instance of the awakening of gambling. A considerable sprinkling of the country seems to have let down the bars, with hot spots in Virginia Beach, Atlantic City, Cleveland (suburbs), Cincinnati, Galveston, the Adirondacks, (but not the Catskills) resorts, numerous Rhode Island points and Washington.

A former Senator's burnt-out flame spent her trans-Atlantic sailing time convalescing from a binge with a heavy sleeping-pill chaser. . .Andrei Gromyko's son, Anatoli, is engaged to a good Communist maiden. His father vetoed a romance with a Long Island co-ed.

And Prince Bertil of Sweden is weakening under family pressure. He will wed a distant royal relative and regretfully back out on a morganatic marriage with an actress who caught his fancy.

St. John's Congregation Buys Site For Church In Woodland

Members of St John's Evangelical and Reformed church have purchased a building site in Woodland for a new church parsonage, it was announced today.

F. A. Matthes, treasurer of the church, said the lot is located on the south side of Overlook road between Davis and Andover roads.

The 100 - by - 120 - foot lot was purchased from Mrs. May Lex for $3,000.

Members of the church appointed a committee to raise funds and authorized purchase of a building site for a parsonage at their annual meeting in January, 1948. The funds were raised, but no further action was taken until the purchase was made last week.

Matthes said the church has not made any definite plans yet for the type of building which will be erected, and no date has been set for building.

Yanks' Lead Down To 3; Wynn Wins

NEW YORK—(AP)— The Cleveland Indians are hot on the trail of the league-leading New York Yankees

The Tribe's hair-raising 4-2 win last night closed the gap between the teams to three games They do not play today

A phenomenal touch of Lady Luck's hand has helped the scrapping Tribe in recent games The Bombers must have seen her sitting on the Cleveland bench last night because they played ball like nervous schoolboys

Three of the Tribe's runs were unearned as they defeated Vic Raschi for the first time in five tries An error, a passed ball, a wild pitch, and at least two mechanical blunders by the Yanks cost them the game.

And then there was that lovely touch of luck

The score was 4 to 1 for the Indians going into the Yankee eighth Early Wynn, who had allowed the Bombers eight hits and had stiffled them in the pinch was tiring After Phil Rizzuto and Tommy Henrich singled to open the inning Manager Lou Boudreau took the ball and waved for The Ancient Man

SATCHEL GETS JOE

Satchel Paige trudged in to face Joe DiMaggio who had singled twice Little time was wasted The Yankee clipper caught a Paige fast ball and drove it deep to left center In Cleveland the ball would have been out of the park to tie the score But Thurman Tucker raced back to gather in the fly and Rizzuto trotted in with only one run

In the Yankee third, Raschi singled with one out and raced for third on George Stirnweiss' similar hit But the pitcher never reached the bag He stumbled rounding second and was thrown out Larry Doby to Ray Boone to Joe Gordon before he could scramble back

Rizzuto doubled to left to score Stirnweiss, but another rally was squelched

In the fifth, Dale Mitchell tripled with one out Little Thurman Tucker topped a roller to Bob Brown at third, but Brown played hot potato with the ball and Tuck was safe, Mitchell holding third

A fly by clutch hitter Mickey Vernon scored Mitchell and Tucker advanced to second when Doby singled to right

When Catcher Gus Nairos let a Raschi pitch get away, Tucker scooted all the way home for the second run of the inning

The Tribe got a legitimate run in the third when Boone and Jim Hegan singled Wynn sacrificed and Mitchell lined to DiMaggio, Boone scoring after the catch

A single by Boudreau a sacrifice a grounder and a wild pitch accounted for the Tribe's fourth run in the eighth Boudreau got two of the Tribe's 11 hits

It was Wynn's eighth victory against two defeats Paige retired six straight Yanks after relieving the hefty Alabama man in the eighth

The Indians now have won five straight

Inscore Squeezes Past Scadova In Caddy Tourney

Defending champion Larry Inscore barely squeezed through first round competition as the annual Westbrook caddy tournament opened yesterday Inscore went to the 18th hole before eliminating Bob Scadova, 1 up

Only one other match was close in championship flight play, "Beebee" Vrable defeating Paul Smollen, one up Largest margin of victory was by Dean Hahn, who eliminated Larry Zartman on the 11th hole, 9 and 7

In other matches yesterday, Charles Vandlick beat Rich Esbenshade 5 and 4 Gerald Jones trimmed Dale DeWeese 4 and 3, Bud Baith took out Cliff Hammer 7 and 6 and Johnny McIntire won over Darce Shasky, 5 and 4

Jimmy Hager expected to be Inscore's chief challenger is to play his match with Sherban Wednesday Second round play will be next Monday

Winner of the caddy tournament gets the right to represent Westbrook in the National Caddy tournament next month in Columbus

Italy Victor In Cup Match

PARIS —(UP)— Italy's Davis cup tennis hopes balanced on a wobbly strained ankle but the ankle held out and today the Italians were in the interzone final round of the cup eliminations for the first time in history

The ankle in question belonged to Italian singles champion Gianni Cucelli whose victory in the final match yesterday gave Italy a 3 to 2 triumph over France in the European zone finals

France had earned a 2-2 tie earlier in the day when Robert Abdesselam defeated Marcello Del Bello 6 3 6 4 6-2 Cucelli then appeared against French champion Marcel Bernard and lost two of the first three sets He won the next two for an 8 6, 3 6 3-6 6-0 6-1 triumph

The Story behind the new FORD "FEEL"
NOW There's a Ford in your future
Take the wheel . . .
try the new FORD "Feel"
. . . At your FORD dealer's
White sidewall tires available at extra cost.

WHAT'S THAT wonderful new Ford "feel" you hear everyone raving about? It's the result of many things.

It's the ground hugging, level "feel" of Ford's new "Mid Ship" Ride. You sit cradled between wheels—not over them—in the new lower center section.

It's the smooth easy stopping "feel" of Ford's new "Magic Action" Brakes Only Ford in its field offers you 176 square inches of lining area. Only Ford brakes that are fully self energizing to stop you 35% easier.

It's the "feel" of surging power in Ford's new 100 h p V 8 and 95 h p Six engines Only Ford in its field offers you this choice of power . . . only Ford, a V type engine (the type used in America's costliest cars) only Ford, 8 cylinders . . . only Ford, 100 horsepower

And behind that new Ford "feel" are many other Ford "firsts" New "Hydra Coil" and "Para Flex" Springs that smooth out the bumps. The new "Lifeguard" Body and frame structure—39% more rigid New "Sofa-Wide" Seats—more hip and shoulder room than any other car in its field. New "Finger Tip" Control gives you the "feel" of easy steering

And with the new "feel" comes new classic-smooth styling The famed New York Fashion Academy judged Ford the "Fashion Car of the Year."

National League Race to Start Second Time

Brooklyn, St. Louis Finish In 4-4 Tie

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Throw the first three months out of the window, boys—the National league pennant race is just beginning.

It took 14 weeks, but now that the wheat has been separated from the chaff, the same old bitter rivals—the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals—are battling for the coveted prize. That's been the story in six of the last eight years.

At the moment, the edge lies with the Cards. Back home from a successful 12-game eastern jaunt, the Redbirds are in first place today, a half game in front of the slumping Dodgers. As far as the flag is concerned, the other six clubs can start rebuilding for next year.

The rampant Redbirds, who took over first place from Brooklyn by knocking off the Dodgers three straight in the Brooks' own back yard, begin a 19-game home stand today.

In the meantime, the Dodgers will play 17 games on the road, beginning with a trio in Chicago.

The American league race is showing signs of becoming a humdinger, too It appeared practically over last week when the pace-setting New York Yankees knocked off their most persistent challengers—the Cleveland Indians—two out of three to increase their margin to five and a half games.

Things have changed since then, though. The Tribe went on to take its next five games, including the big one last night when they whipped the Yankees, 4-2, before 71,354 at the Yankee stadium. That cut the Bronx Bombers' lead to only three games, with the two teams clashing again Wednesday and Thursday

ONE-TWO PUNCH

The Indians delivered a one-two punch last night Not only did they defeat the Yankees, but they turned the tables on Vic Raschi, who had whipped them four straight times this year. The Yankee ace went the route for the 15th time, but was tagged for 11 hits and went down to his fourth defeat He has won 15

In the only National league game, the Dodgers, striving to save something from their disastrous series with the Redbirds, had to settle for a nine-inning tie as the Cards overcame a 3-1 deficit in the sixth. The game was called by agreement at the end of the ninth to permit both clubs to make train connections to the west.

Stan Musial's triple, the first of three hits against his Brooklyn cousins, scored Lou Klein to give the Cards a run in the first, but the Brooks came back with two in the third and another in the fourth for a 3-1 lead.

With two away in the sixth, Musial doubled, Enos Slaughter walked and Ron Northey scored them both with a two-base hit Rocky Nelson's two - bagger brought in Northey to put the Cards ahead, 4-3 The Dodgers tied the score at 4-4 in their half of the sixth on pinch hitter Gene Hermanski's home run

No other games were scheduled in the majors

Bear Named Gus Wrestles Here Saturday

Gus, the wrestling bear, must share some of Mansfield's wrestling spotlight with another clever Indian performer and four assorted grunt and groan artists Saturday night in the Ashland road armory.

The 300-pound Gus, an undefeated mat star, will be making his first appearance in Mansfield. Gus, is owned by Billy Fox, some shakes as a wrestler in his own right In fact Fox will also appear on Saturday's card Fox has offered $100 to the first man to defeat the bear.

For his opening opponent, Gus has drawn George O'Hara, an enterprising young 200 pounder from Eugene, Oregon They will wrestle one fall with a 30-minute limit

Suni War Cloud, Mohawk Indian, will handle the redskin angle this week. Don Eagle has been holding down top billing here in recent weeks. War Cloud is also of the clean speedy school and meets Fred Bozic, a confirmed "crowd baiter" in the one-hour main go.

A mean matman at the best Bozic lost to Eagle in his one previous Mansfield bout They will wrestle for one hour in a two-of-three falls affair

Fox will go against Joe Wolfe in the one-hour opener. Wolfe wrestled in Mansfield several years ago and just returned from a six-month tour on the west coast

Tickets are on sale at the City News.

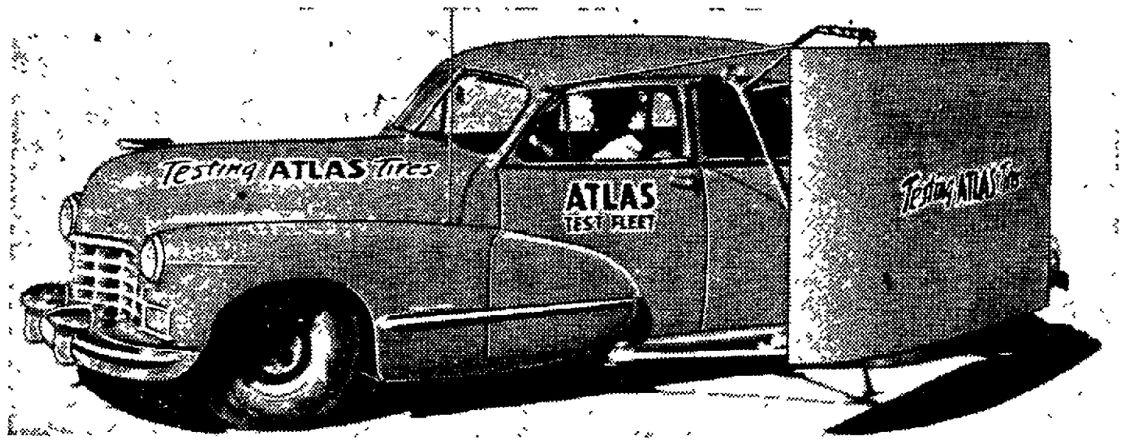
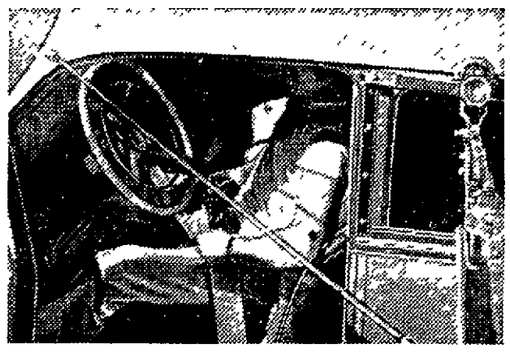
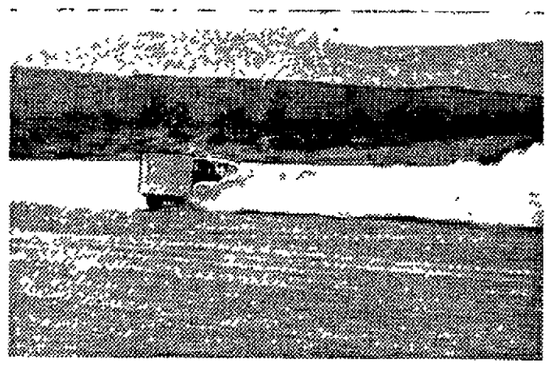
ATLAS WINS TIRE VALUE TEST!



√ MILEAGE-TESTED

In grueling tests of America's five leading tire brands, Atlas was first! Atlas tires stood up longest, tested best—at high speeds, over rough, rocky roads and in the searing heat of deserts. Test included Atlas Grip-Safe and low-pressure Cushionaire tires. Both contain new longer-wearing "cold" rubber and special, long-life carbon black.

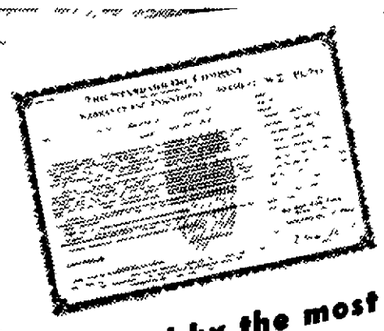




√ SAFETY-TESTED

To test their heat and blow-out resistance, Atlas tires were run at speeds so high that test cars had to wear special air-fins to keep from turning over. Atlas tires run cooler, with less blow-out danger! They are also flatter, put more rubber on the road for safer, surer stops in all weather.

A New Low Price!



Backed by the most valuable guarantee in the tire business

Atlas tires are guaranteed in writing and the Atlas Guarantee is the most valuable with instant make-good by 38,000 dealers in 48 states. Honored in Canada, too.

$12.92 (6.00 x 16 size) (Plus Taxes)

And made even lower by a GOOD TRADE-IN allowance for your old tires!

First Line! First Quality! New Car Grade!

Milcage-tested, safety-tested Atlas tires cost you less! And there's no guessing about what you're getting for your money, either. Atlas tires are always first line, first quality, new car grade tires! Look for your best tire value under the Sohio sign! You'll find a tested tire at a new low price and a good trade-in for your old tires!

Football Laws To Be Neutral

NEW CASTLE, N. H. — (AP) — There should be no squawking about "sectional" rules on the nation's football fields this season.

The national association of collegiate commissioners, with representatives of 162 colleges throughout the country, reached an agreement yesterday that every rule be interpreted the same from north to south and east to west.

From here in, regardless of the site of inter-sectional competition, all officiating will be on a neutral basis.

Golf Big Shots Okay Suspension

ST. PAUL — (UP) Some of Golf's biggest names today approved the suspension of South African Bobby Locke from U. S. professional golf association tournaments.

The PGA tournament committee announced its unanimous decision against the foreign star yesterday for his failure to keep past tournament commtitments.

Minor Loop Hurler Gets Perfect Game

PENSACOLA, Fla. —(INS)— Bert Heffernan, Pensacola's small rookie left-hander, tossed a perfect no-hit, no-run game against Montgomery's southeastern league defending champs last night, facing only 27 men.

Not a single rebel runner reached first base as Heffernan administered the 6-0 whitewash at Pensacola. He struck out seven and walked none.

'Taft For President' Push Starts

Mason Hails Leadership

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A "Taft-for-President" drive was started in the House yesterday by Rep Mason (R Ill) He predicted that if Senator Taft is re-elected in Ohio next year "nothing can stop him from becoming the Republican presidential candidate in 1942"

"That means 'Bob and Martha' would occupy the rebuilt White House," Mason added in a speech prepared for delivery.

Mason said Taft's leadership in the 80th Congress and his actions in the 81st "have placed him head and shoulders above anyone else."

"Bob Taft may have neither mass appeal nor political color," he added, "but he does have what it takes, brains, guts, and integrity — qualities altogether too scarce today in legislative halls."

Mason predicted that "more money and effort will be expended in Ohio against Taft than will be expended against all other senatorial and congressional candidates combined" That's because, he said, "the labor bosses would rather defeat Taft than all other members of Congress"

Meanwhile, constituents of Rep. Sidney R Yates, a Democrat from Illinois, were told in the congressman's weekly letter, about the golf game of Sen Robert A. Taft, Ohio Republican

Rep Yates defeated Senator Taft 81 to 85 recently in a tournament between Republican and Democratic lawmakers and, according to Yates, Taft's golf game parallels his political philosophy He "goes to the right" more often than to the left, said Yates

Taft wore khaki shorts a faded blue t-shirt and an old fishing hat with a green sun visor.

"From the opeing drive, the senator was rarely in the rough. His shots were down the middle of the fairway about 150 yards and invariably when he was not in the center he would pull to the right. Only rarely did he hook to the left."

"Senator Taft is a determined man," continued Yates 'When he putted he would watch the cup in a semi-crouched position with his hands on both knees as though he were insisting that the ball go in

"Strangely enough more often than not it did go in The senator is an excellent putter"

Shaw, 93 Today, Sips Apple Juice, Spurns Free Interview

Irish pundit would mark the anniversary of his birth by ambling down the hill to sip sweet apple juice with Winsten, his crony and biographer.

AYOT ST LAWRENCE, Eng. — (AP) — George Bernard Shaw is 93 today and he doesn't look a day over 90

He has the same attitude toward money now as he had then, too He likes it

So how the world's highest priced playwright feels and what he thinks of the world in general on this great occasion remains secret to a would-be interviewer who called

True to form, Shaw brushed off a birthday interview request as follows

"Interview? Birthday interview, certainly — if the young man offers me a nice, big commission"

Not being authorized to do anything of the kind, the young man turned to Shaw s friends and neighbors, Mr and Mrs Stephen Winsten

Mrs. Winsten said the famed She will have the old boy's drink chilled and ready, plus a slab of chocolate for his sweet tooth

Mrs Winsten said Shaw looks "just as well or better than he did at ninety"

Shaw had his birthday party in advance — in the Winsten's garden ten days ago. The aged vegetarian sampled all the pastries and sandwiches and drank apple juice

Lausche OK's Sweeping Revision of Real Property Valuation

Bill Goes Into Effect In 90 Days

Equalization Plan Approved

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Sweeping revision of real property values for taxation will be required over Ohio after 90 days.

That will be the effective date of a new law signed Monday by Gov. Frank J Lausche. It was among 71 bills passed by the 98th General assembly the governor signed into law.

He still has several major measures under consideration and will act on them before the legislature returns Friday for final adjournment.

The new tax act requires the state board of tax appeals to equalize values between counties, county units or certain classes of property on a percentage basis. Higher or lower valuations can not be set for individual properties.

The state can withhold half its school and other subsidies from counties failing to comply with board orders to equalize appraisals within 90 days.

Rural legislators opposed the proposal. They warned it will result in "more repercussions" than any other legislation passed this session.

Here's what some of the other major measures do

Exempt publicly - owned vehicles from license fees, a measure sponsors said will save Cleveland thousands of dollars

Lowers majority vote needed to pass school bond issues and tax levies for construction to 55 per cent at general elections and 60 per cent at special and primary elections.

Allows school boards to submit to voters the question of issuing bonds in excess of the 6 per cent debt limitation.

Paves the way for county commissioners to set up garbage collection and disposal districts outside cities and finance them with bond issues.

Opens a calf vaccination program designed to rid the state of Bang's disease in cattle.

Lets schools pay travel expenses of board members and employes to professional meetings.

Cuts from five to two years the period for fixing school book prices.

Authorizes loans to state universities for new student centers: Ohio State $1,500,000, Bowling Green, Miami, Ohio U. and Kent State $1,000,000 each and Wilberforce $500,000

Creates advisory board of classification and chartering of high school.

Boost mileage of legislators and assembly employes from 5 to 6½ cents a mile for travel between home and Columbus

Permit bridge commission to build bridges

Volunteers Offer Child Home Plan

Proposal Revealed At Fiery Session

Biddle then added that the committee would like to be informed what the commissioners had done toward securing a detention home for the county

Stewart replied: "I'd like to hear from Mr. Cramer first to see why he hasn't got a detention home.

"Why I haven't done something?" the judge asked. "You know as well as I why something hasn't been done!"

That started the argument which lasted for nearly 10 minutes.

"You know your responsibility and you're trying to sidestep it!" the judge told Stewart.

"Oh, you're just popping off," was Stewart's reply.

Stewart then mentioned a West Third street location for a possible detention home and said he'd asked the judge to accompany him to the house The judge said he had visited the site but that it would take "too much money" to make the home meet detention home standards.

"The committee can readily see what I'm up against," the judge continued Then turning to Stewart, he added. "All right, if you want a writ of mandamus on this, we'll call this meeting off right now!

CALLS FOR ACTION

"There is no necessity for the county to go to the expense of $25,000 to $30,000 to buy a house" Judge Cramer said. "Whether it's rented or purchased makes no difference to me, but something must be done.

"I've got two 15-year-old boys in the county jail right now. We finally got the 13-year-old girl into a home," the judge stated.

Stewart came back with: "Why didn't you get a place sooner for that girl. Seems you got a place easily enough when you wanted to."

Biddle interrupted the argument by repeating his offer to be helpful and asked again "Do you want us to go ahead with assistance on the home?"

Stewart replied with a soft-spoken, "Yes."

"Both the court and the commissioners should feel it's a time for cooperation and to try to get along," Biddle said

Stewart flared again with the statement that the Judge had "never given the commissioners authority to look for a home"

The Ohio Code gives them the complete authority with approval of the home personnel up to the juvenile judge.

Apparently tired of the banter, Marriott entered the discussion: "We're not trying to inject ourselves into the picture if we're not wanted. If we can help, all right. If we can't OK, we can go right back to work and forget it!"

Stewart stuck stubbornly to his guns "We're not going to buy a detention home now. We're not!"

Biddle then asked once more what the commissioners had done toward securing a detention home Only then did Stewart produce the letter from the Volunteers of America

Biddle adjourned the meeting by announcing that another meeting of the bar committee would be held next Monday at his call He said he did not know whether the commissioners would be included in the meeting.

Ashland County Extends X-Ray Program Through Saturday

Free Chest Tests Given To 7,463

Secure Additional Use of Bus Unit

ASHLAND — Extension of the Ashland county free chest X-ray program, started two weeks ago, has been extended one day through Saturday of this week because of the unexpectedly large response to the program.

Dr. C. B. Meuser, Ashland county-city health commissioner and instigator of the program which is the first county-wide mass X-ray in the nation, has obtained a continuation of the use of the state health department bus X-ray unit, which, with a portable unit, has toured the county during the past two weeks.

Thus far 7,463 persons have received free chest X-rays. Of this number, 1,572 were X-rayed Saturday at the bus unit stationed at the corner of Center and Main streets in the business district. Workers were swamped throughout the day as long lines formed along the sidewalk beside the bus unit.

Dr. Meuser's goal is to have not less than 60 per cent of the county's adult population X-rayed before the end of the week. This would mean X-raying approximately 11,000 before the Saturday deadline.

Each individual X-rayed will receive a written report from the state department of health as soon as all the films are developed and checked at the Columbus headquarters of the department. Those showing possible indications of tuberculosis will be referred to the county health department for further X-rays.

In addition to the chest X-rays the units are also providing free diabetic tests for all persons over 40 years of age.

Schedule for the remainder of the week for the bus and portable units is as follows:

Tuesday—Nova school, 2 to 5 p. m. Ruggles Sullivan school, 6:30 to 9:30 p. m.; Ashland armory, 2 to 5 p. b. and 6 to 9 p. m.

Wednesday—Polk school, 2 to 5 p. m. and 6:30 to 9:30 p. m.; Lincoln school (Ashland), 2 to 5 p. m. and 6 to 9 p. m.

See Record Corn Supply This Year

Expect Smaller Wheat Stocks

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The nation is headed toward the largest corn supply on record, but wheat stocks are expected to be smaller than last year.

This is the opinion of top agriculture officials after viewing the government's latest figures on grain supplies for July 1.

Corn stocks are reported at their highest level for that date in seven years of record keeping — one billion, 239 million bushels. This is expected to dwindle to about 800 million bushels by Oct. 1, when the new harvest begins.

A carry-over of that size, plus a prospective new crop of three billion, 530 million bushels would boost the year's total supply to an unprecedented four billion, 330 million bushels.

What's more, the corn carry-over on Oct. 1, 1950, probably will be larger still.

During the year beginning Oct. 1, no more than three billion, 300 million bushels are expected to be exported or consumed at home. Compare that with the supply and it's obvious that before long at least a billion bushels of extra corn will be lying around.

With wheat, officials say it's going to be a slightly different story.

July 1 stocks totalled 293 million bushels — 50 per cent larger than for that date last year but far from a record.

An expected wheat crop of one billion, 189 million bushels will give the country a supply of only one billion, 482 million during the next 12 months, compared to one billion, 484 million bushels last year.

The department is offering 16 million pounds of the eggs at 65 cents a pound packed in barrels and 67 cents packed in cartons.

The 16 million pounds offered at reduced prices represent the remainder of dried egg stocks bought under last year's price support program. Sales to date have totalled only 1,165,000 pounds.

Guests were Earl Fenton, Rotarian from Wayland, N. Y.; J. M. Fissinger of Piqua, and Dr. M. W. Jones of Phoenix, Ariz. The meeting was held in Hotel Talbott.

Blood Donor Unit In Bucyrus Today

BUCYRUS—Today was blood donor day at First Presbyterian church here as the Columbus Red Cross bloodmobile paid its fourth visit of the year. Earl Hewitt, local Red Cross blood bank chairman, reported only 70 donors had registered but expressed the hope that additional donors would report during the day in an effort to meet the goal of 100 pints.

A total of 283 pints was given in three previous visits of the bloodmobile unit here. Today's bloodmobile visit is sponsored by the Bucyrus Business and Professional Women's club.

Pitcher Injured In Marion Game

RIDGEWAY — Allan Hale, 19, local baseball pitcher, sustained a leg fracture while covering home plate during a game with a Marion team in Marion park Sunday. A Marion player, attempting to score, bowled Hale over. Hale will be released from Marion City hospital Wednesday.

Ridgeway was leading at the time, 8 to 6, but the accident resulted in Marion rallying against the stunned Ridgeway team to triumph. Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hale here, attended Iberia high school but graduated from Ridgeway high school in 1948. He is employed by the New York Central railroad.

Benefit games to aid Hale have been arranged by both participating teams with Ridgeway playing its benefit game Saturday night.

Now Comes Arms Proposal

GUESSWORK is entering so largely into ratification of the Atlantic Pact and its associated arms aid program that it is impossible at this time to estimate the good or harm that may come from this precedent-breaking peace-time move on the part of the United States.

As President Truman proceeds on the course of asking quick congressional sanction of spending a billion and a half dollars to provide arms for European countries included in the Atlantic Pact, Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan and national commander of the Disabled War Veterans, comes out vigorously against the pact and calls it "an invitation to another war." He advises instead that the United States "rebuild our own defenses, which have been let down to a low level."

In regarding the pact as "an invitation to another war," Gen. Wainwright's view is almost identical with that of Senator Robert A. Taft, who considers the program "more likely to produce a third world war than to maintain the peace of the world."

Compulsion, rather than desire, seems to be the motivating force in influencing support of the Atlantic Pact and the armament project, although there is obvious luke-warmness toward the idea of supplying arms to friendly European nations when the potentialities of that move are fully considered.

What has been called a "cold war" could quickly be changed into actual conflict if Russia reacts to flaunting of military strength in western Europe, which might easily be mistaken for aggressive intent, and it could scarcely be expected that the United States would be able—even with much more than the proposed expenditure of a billion and a half dollars—to provide sufficient arms to withstand a sudden onslaught by overwhelming Soviet forces, augmented by communists in the various countries under attack.

Just how the United States, time after time, gets itself into the predicament of trying to solve constantly recurring European squabbles, as well as taking on responsibility for settling troubles in all parts of the world, has never been made clear, as this is a relatively new country—with many unsolved problems of its own.

Since billions of dollars have come to be so lightly regarded, the proposed expenditure for carrying through the arms program seems less important than the probable effects of such action, and the views of General Wainwright, Senator Taft and others of like thought will impress many as being more worthy of approval than proceeding further toward unforeseeable consequences of more mistakes.

All Taxes Reduce Buying Power

ARGUMENTS still are being made in favor of reducing the war-time federal excise taxes, and a current one is based on the point that these taxes reduce consumption, because they are imposed over the prices of the articles to which they apply, thus increasing their total cost.

There is nothing the matter with this argument except that it seems to imply that other taxes do not reduce consumption. The fact is that all taxes reduce consumption, because all taxes come out of the amount of money available to pay for goods.

That is one of the facts about taxes, like the associated point that all taxes are paid eventually by the people, which should never be forgotten, or obscured by double-talk about who pays what tax.

Voting Machines By Bond Issue

AFTER CONSIDERATION of the matter of substituting voting machines for pencil-marked ballots, Cuyahoga county commissioners have decided to put the question up to a vote next November—but not merely as to "yes" or "no", as was done here last fall in approving pay increases for city employes without providing the necessary money.

As the voting machine question is to be presented in Cuyahoga county (Cleveland, that is), the vote will be on a bond issue proposal of $2,520,000 required for the purchase of 1800 voting machines.

This serves to present the issue in a realistic way—if you want something you should realize that it must be paid for . . . and in cases involving public service it is the taxpayers who must settle the bill.

Handicaps Seen In New Light

ONE RESULT of the devastation of war which can be placed on the credit side of the ledger is a new understanding and treatment of the physically handicapped.

Much publicity has been given to the care and handling of such patients and to their mental and emotional status. Instead of turning away from the victim of serious injuries or addressing him with pity, people have learned to face the condition frankly and to take it for granted. This helps the handicapped person to do the same. Films such as "The Best Years of Our Lives" and the books like "My Fortune In My Hands" have done much to change public thought and behavior along these lines.

Much of the success or failure of the handicapped individual depends upon his emotional approach to the problems caused by his condition. This mental and emotional state tends to be conditioned to a great extent by the attitude of others. The modern idea that a physical handicap is merely one facet of the whole personality is a healthy one.

Claude Callan notes: "When Aunt Lucy travels she never sees the sights of one place because she is in a hurry to get to the next place, and some of us go through life the same way."

What Some Other People Are Saying

SENATOR BRIEN M'MAHON, (D.-Conn.): "Our national security and the peace of the world compel us to make the production of more and better (atom) bombs the first order of business in our own atomic program."

POPE PIUS XII: "Educating your children in a Christian way you will educate them for peace. An enemy of God cannot really be just."

W. AVERELL HARRIMAN, chief of the Economic Co-operation Administration in Europe: "The question now is if we are to balance trade on a high or a low level. If we do it on a high level, it will mean prosperity and political stability abroad. If it is done on a low level, there will be instability and unrest, the very things we are trying to fight in achieving peace."

Here We Go Again.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Columbia Valley Project Election Issue

OLYMPIA — President Truman soundly defeated Governor Dewey in the state of Washington last year and carried with him all the state offices except the governorship. Arthur Langlie won that by a decisive majority over Mon C. Wallgren.

Langlie's victory, however, imposed upon him the tremendous responsibility of heading the fight against the effort of the Truman administration, assorted Democrats and left-wingers in the state of Washington to put over a Columbia Valley Administration plan.

This plan would establish over a great area, running into four states, an authority which would be the nearest thing to socialism ever hatched in the United States. The governments of the three other states are united with Langlie in opposition, and so far the project has been blocked.

There seems to be little chance for a CVA in this session of Congress. Even Senator Magnuson, formerly a strong supporter of the idea has introduced a new bill which merely approves the long list of river improvements to be carried out under existing authorities.

It is not believed, however, that this indicates a permanent change of attitude. Next year, when Magnuson and the six Washington congressmen are up for re-election, the major issue will be CVA, and the future of the scheme will be greatly affected by the result.

* * *

Mammoth Project.

THE CVA plan as proposed by the Truman Administration would unite Federal projects for the development of water power, irrigation, flood control, conservation of land resources, forestry, minerals, transportation, fish, wild life, and recreation in a vast area covering practically all the state of Washington and stretching into neighboring states. The area would be seven times that controlled by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The governing body would be a board of three, appointed by the President for a term of six years. The project would gather under its concentrated authority practically all the federal activities in that field.

It would also supplant a large part of state authority. It would substantially be above all state power or regulation and control. It would have what amounts to taxing power in local communities. Moreover, its control of its own finances would by-pass the appropriation power of Congress and the budgetary control of the President.

It would in effect be a great regional government over states and local units and, through delegation, it would operate virtually independently of federal authority.

It would be an effective means of regimenting private industries, agriculture, mining and lumbering, for the heart of control in such a region is electric power, and the CVA would be the dispenser of that.

Beyond all this, it is easy to see the building of a political dictatorship unparalleled in America. For the agencies of coercion and propaganda of the CVA would penetrate to every community. It would be a totalitarian's dream.

Despite the efforts of Governor Langlie and of business and civic groups of the region, the long-run prospects of avoiding this sort of dictatorship are none too bright. For so much federal money is already spent and projected in this region that it would seem almost inevitable that such power would ultimately be imposed. For the bureaucrat's heavy hand always follows government dollars.

Washington Calling

Peering Under Surface

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE FAINT stirrings on the surface fail to reflect what is happening in the political depths. Intensive preparations are going forward for what promises to be a showdown contest in the congressional elections next year.

The issue for conservatives, it becomes increasingly apparent, is whether organized labor in a unified front is to establish a balance of political power.

On the side of the labor-fair deal - left the issue is whether Congress can frustrate the Truman welfare program that was the core of the President's 1948 campaign.

On both sides of this dividing line the feeling grows that '50 is crucial. And if the conservatives, most of whom are in the Republican party, recapture control of Congress next year, then 1952 becomes the all-important year in which to consolidate a victory that many Republicans feel should have been cinched last fall.

Two current developments point up the all - out stress on winning in next year's showdown. In the center ring will be the contest in Ohio with Sen. Robert A. Taft up for re-election and organized labor determined to knock him out.

A challenger of proper stature to take on Taft becomes, therefore, of paramount importance. This is the reason that tremendous pressure is being put on a man who has hitherto had virtually no professional political experience.

Murray Lincoln, a leader in the Ohio farm bureau federation and president of the Co - operative League of the U.S.A., is being urged by labor groups, by co-operatives and by such organizations as Americans for Democratic Action to make the race against Taft.

* * *

Listed as Republican.

ACCORDING to Lincoln's friends, he would like to run but he is hesitating because of his inexperience and because he knows what a gruelling, no-holds-barred contest it will be. Lincoln has promised to give his answer at the end of August.

The search for a candidate became acute when Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio took himself of the running. A possibility is State Auditor Joseph Ferguson, who has proved through the years to be a phenomenal vote-getter.

But for such a contest in the national spotlight Ferguson lacks the symbol value. That is just what Lincoln, in the view of those urging him to make the race, has in overflowing measure. As a dirt farmer, as a leader in the co - operative movement and as proven friend of organized labor, he embodies the farmer - labor coalition which is the goal of the strategists in the fair deal - labor side.

The fact that Lincoln has been registered as a Republican and so lists his political affiliation in Who's Who makes no difference to the enthusiastic backers pleading with him to run.

That reflects the growing indifference to the old political labels as the emergence of new political divisions becomes increasingly clear.

The second development relates to 1952 and the Republican search for a candidate who can win. Aware of the more and more frequent mention of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as GOP standard - bearer for '52 — a phenomenon that is repeating in a fascinating way the Eisenhower boom of early 1948 — a group of influential Republicans called on the general not long ago.

They told him they were convinced he could get the nomination and win the presidency. This did not surprise Eisenhower. A great many politicians — both Republicans and Democrats — have been telling him that since he stepped out of the chief of staff's office.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Why Gore Helped Kill Brannan Bill

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There was more than meets the eye behind the fight of Tennessee's Congressman Albert Gore to kill the Brannan farm plan in the House. Truman administration friends had counted upon Gore's support, but what they had not counted upon was his burning ambition to become a senator.

For some time, Gore has had his eye on ailing, aged Senator Kenneth McKellar, also of Tennessee. It is no secret that, someday, Gore hopes to fill McKellar's shoes.

This was known to Allan Kline, smart president of the conservative farm bureau. Since the farm bureau is a power in Tennessee politics, Kline promised to support Gore for the Senate if he would oppose the Brannan plan.

Note—Behind Kline's own opposition to the Brannan plan is a bitter jealousy for Secretary of Agriculture Brannan. Kline had expected to be secretary of agriculture himself under Dewey. However, neither Kline's feelings nor his views are shared by rank-and-file farmers — as they demonstrated at the polls last November.

* * *

BACKSTAGE debates over the ousting of Congressman Hugh Scott as chairman of the Republican national committee were more significant than the fragmentary news leaking to the press. Featuring the debates were two important highlights:

1. Bitterness was almost as intense as that between the Dixiecrat and Truman wings of the Democratic party—especially between Taft and Dewey cohorts.

2. The party leaders, figuring a Republican victory certain in moving for position.

That was why stubborn Mr. Scot—Dewey's man—was not finally ousted until 16 states signed a petition to call a meeting of the full committee for ousting purposes; also until a secret meeting of party leaders in the Mayflower hotel initialed a confidential memo pledging themselves to bring about Scott's exit.

These party leaders included: Senator Owen Brewster of Maine, Senator Ed Martin of Pennsylvania, Texas committeeman Rentfro Creager, who has wabbled back and forth between the Taft and Dewey camps; and Pennsylvania committeeman Mason Owlett, who represents Joe Grundy's high-tariff Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association and originally put Hugh Scott in the chairmanship.

The fact that Owlett finally initialed a memo agreeing to Scott's exit meant that his end had come.

* * *

Pours Political Oil.

BUT JUST as victory was within the Taft crowd's grasp their leader wavered. The senator from Ohio indicated that he wanted the new chairman of the G. O. P. to be acceptable to all factions of the party. He wanted harmony, not a row with Dewey over the chairmanship.

This caused another fervid meeting in the Mayflower hotel—once, incidentally, the camping ground of bigwig Democrats. The meeting took place in Room 453, occupied by the delightfully talkative Mr. Creager of Texas, and those present included: Harrison Spangler of Iowa, an ardent Taft man; West Virginia's committeeman Walter Hallanan, also for Taft; committeeman John E. Jackson of Louisiana, one of the few admitted Republicans in that state; faithful Carroll Reece of Tennessee, who was made national chairman three years ago by Taft; and Creager himself, who claims to be for Taft.

The meeting was called to raise cain over their idol's getting too close to their political enemy, Tom Dewey, which they believed would be the greatest mistake Taft could make. Bob Taft was a great statesman, but no politician, someone wailed. Dewey, said another, was finished—dead—there was no use appeasing a dead man.

Finally, Carroll Reece tried to get Taft on the phone. It was now around midnight, but the senator was located at his brother-in-law's home in New York. Reece talked to him, but was too excited, and surrendered the phone to Texas Creager.

* * *

Taft Sympathizes.

TAFT agreed to meet with the group in Washington next day, July 20; which he did, again in Room 453, with approximately the same group present.

But then Reece had calmed down and told Taft bluntly that his old friends felt he was turning his back on their past loyalty.

Taft, he said, was now letting his name be used by the backers of John Danaher, ex-senator from Connecticut, to be the new national chairman. And Reece wanted it remembered that this same Danaher was Tom Dewey's candidate for the chairmanship against him, Reece, in 1946.

Taft listened sympathetically. Later in the day he got together with Senator Brewster of Maine and they arranged for John Danaher to withdraw his name as candidate for the G. O. P. chairmanship.

However, Taft still believes that the grand old party should bind up its wounds and the leaders should do more than bow politely when they meet.

Quite Like Cinderella

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK — All the world loves a lover, especially if his love is a reasonable facsimile of Cinerella. And, who am I to cast a negative vote?

Two recent cables from abroad just brought tender reassurance that the United States is not the only land where a Bobo can bag her Rockefeller.

The British counterpart of Mr. Winthrop Rockefeller's wooing and winning of a beautiful bride from the Pennsylvania coal fields is now on the record.

It is contained in the announcement by a King George VI, more widely known as the father of the celebrated English can-can dancer, Princess Margaret Rose, that is nephew, the Earl of Harewood, is engaged to a very pretty little Viennese refugee.

There is not the slightest hint of any opposition on the part of the royal family to this alliance between the grandson of the Dowager Queen Mary and the hitherto obscure girl who has been helping to piece out the family budget as a professional pianist.

It is just possible that the royal family breathed a sigh of relief when Pere and Mere Stein showed a charitable willingness to overlook their future son's-in-law can-can connections.

Like Bobo, the working girl who lived in a walk-up flat under the third avenue "el" and who snared the most eligible bachelor in New York from under the noses of society's fast-working debutantes, Miss Stein has walked off with one of the chief matrimonial prizes in the British Islaes.

* * *

The Earl Has Money.

THE FACT that the young earl is eleventh in line for the throne, and nephew of the king cuts some ice — but not nearly as much as the fact that in these lean English days he is one of the richest young peers of the realm. Aristocracy you can have for the asking in England, but dough is what nobody's got in quantity anymore.

The earl's late father was one of the richest peers in England and it is presumed that the present earl and his only brother whacked up a good sized estate, even minus tremendous death dues, when the late earl died during World War II.

It was concerning the late earl, who married the princess royal (only sister of King George VI), that the Duke of Windsor during the brief days of his kingship spoke an immortal bon mot.

Of his brother-in-law, a tall, horse-faced, haughty man, Windsor complained:

"He gets royaler and royaler all the time as I get commoner and commoner."

It is probably just as well that it is only the royal family and not the late earl who has to sanction the marriage of his son to the little refugee who lives in a small, walk-up flat in London's most middle-class residential district.

The other Cinderella item from abroad comes from La Belle France and carries the winsome intelligence that a Miss Ida Passeroti, a poor but honest miss who has been earning her vichyssoise and crepe suzettes as a golf caddy at a Riviera club, has caught the revolving eye of the Aga Khan, pappy to Aly Khan and daddy-in-law to America's Rita Hayworth.

It is reported that Miss Passeroti is such a satisfactory caddy that the Aga is building a villa for her, although — so the dispatch says — the Riviera set "will be surprised" if he marries her.

The Aga already has one wife, known as the Begum. But I presume his loyal Moslem followers would not begrudge an extra wife to a man whose ringside weight they match in diamonds ever so often.

Since I read this dispatch, the first line of a promising lyric has been running through my head. In fact, it might be stretched into a whole musical comedy. This priceless line, which I hereby give to Oscar Hammerstein 2nd, Irving Berlin or Cole Porter, reads:

"The Aga is gaga today, hey-hey."

Carry on, men.

Frankly Speaking

Arming Pact Associates

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — President Truman, taking the next step in the cold war with Russia, asks Congress to vote money for arming western Europe against Russia.

This will intensify the argument that's been going on for months about the arms program. It's already so intense there's a question whether all, or any, of it gets Congress' okay this year.

There is no real disagreement between President Truman's planners and Congress on this big point: The spread of communism and Russia's power must be blocked.

The disagreements have always been on how to do it and how much needs to be done. And that's at the heart of the present disagreement about arming western Europe.

Last week the Senate, after full debate, overwhelmingly voted for our joining the Atlantic Pact. By joining it, we have agreed that:

We will go to the defense of the western European countries, who have joined with us, if they're attacked. Russia wasn't named as the only likely attacker, but Russia was meant.

* * *

Self-Interest Involved.

WE WEREN'T being unselfish in this agreement. The countries of western Europe are our friends. We need them badly to stand off the push of communism.

But they might not have the will to resist Russian pressure without this assurance from us that we'd stand beside them in any crisis.

Now western Europe, through the Atlantic Pact, may have the will to resist Russia. But does it have the ability? That is, does it have the arms to stop an attack?

That's where the argument over Mr. Truman's arms program begins. He thinks our allies need the arms, and plenty of them, from us.

Critics of his program think our allies don't need the arms in the amount, or as fast, as Mr. Truman requests, or they say that arming Europe might actually bring on war instead of preventing it.

Some of them suggest we send only a token amount of arms at this time and wait until the allies' military experts including ours, figure out precisely what is needed and what will be done with it.

They raise this question, too: Suppose one of our allies is taken over by its own native communists. Then it will ally itself with Russia and the arms we sent it can be used against us.

The supporters of Mr. Truman's program argue this way:

To stand up against a Russian attack until we can swing into full scale war effort, western Europe needs arms. It doesn't have them now, although it may be able to produce enough for itself within some years from now.

So the problem of arming Europe is immediate. Unless we send the arms, western Europe may doubt our sincerity in saying we'll help at all.

Timely Editorial

Muddling Through.

Somehow or other, the state liquor department ought to find a way to avoid stumbling over its own feet.

Once again, it has issued a suspension order for good and sufficient reason, only to find weeks later that the joint is still open.

The gimmick this time is that the old license has expired, the woman permit holder has been married and she is now applying for a renewal permit under her new name. Even though the new permit has not been issued, it seems, believe it or not, that her authority to stay open while waiting for action on the permit takes precedence over the closing order.

Anyone but the liquor department's legal technicians would say that the suspension should take top priority.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Readers Forum

An Appreciation.

Editor News-Journal:

One summer night a few years ago I was tired and hot—almost too tired to look at the News-Journal, but I picked it up and the first thing I saw was Calvin Byers' description of a strawstack.

Living on a farm all my life, I thought, "Now what could anyone write about a strawstack", so I proceeded to read it. I not only read it once but twice, and after reading that article about a strawstack, as I had been around one all my life, I thought anyone who could write an article like that surely should be commended, for it's such a wonderful thing to be able to do one thing RIGHT in this world, and he could surely write.

Calvin Byers' writings were always so real, and they were such a relaxation to me. His writings will always be a memorial to him.

Workshop For Teachers In Ashland

Two-Day Session To Be Repeated

ASHLAND — V. B. Moffett, superintendent of Ashland county schools, today announced the two-day elementary workshop for teachers of grades one through six and local superintendents again will be held this year. The workshop will be held Aug. 9 and 10 at Montgomery school, starting at 9 a. m.

Last August the workshop was held at the same school with Dr. Olive Woodruff, of Kent State university, directing it. Dr. Woodruff will lead this year's discussion with teachers of grades one through three while Dr. Janet Reese, also of Kent State, will lead the other discussions.

Included in the program will be an explanation of the new trend in handwriting. Miss Essie Fisher will present this part of the program. It will be a discussion of the correlation of reading, writing and spelling.

The county librarian will explain the new service the library expects to offer. There will be time for the discussion of recreational reading with some books on display.

Moffett explained that since a new pupil report card will be used this year its explanation will be discussed. He urges all teachers attending the workshop to bring copies of the seatwork they prepared last year for their pupils.

LOUDONVILLE — First Presbyterian church here, will hold its last worship service before the summer vacation on Sunday, Aug. 7 at 11 a. m. The church then will be closed for vacation until Sept. 11, at which time it will reopen for the fall and winter program.

NO LAXATIVES NOW— SAYS HAPPY 79-ER!

"Had to fight constipation the last 50 years. Nothing helped. Then I got wise to eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every morning. Almost at once I had results. No laxative for last 5 months!" writes 79-year-old Mr. J. Wenig, 7723 So. Mich. Ave., Chicago, Ill. One of many unsolicited ALL-BRAN letters. Are you constipated due to lack of bulk in the diet? Tasty ALL-BRAN may help you. Eat an ounce daily, drink plenty of water. If not satisfied after 10 days, send empty box to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK! —Adv.

1,000 Hear Barber Shop Vocal Units

Galion Chapter Presents Program

GALION — More than 1,000 persons Sunday evening attended the Festival of Harmony presented by the local chapter of the barber shop singers.

The Humdingers, of Mansfield, the Sad Sacks, of Findlay and Galion's Alpagora Four were among the quartets heard.

Scarbrough Post, American Legion band, under the direction of F. A. W. Liddell, Ellsworth Schnegelsberger, Carl Lang, of Dayton, Howard Tupps, Clinton Gerstenslager and Paul Phillips also took part in the program.

Crawford Road Bids Rejected

BUCYRUS — Definite rejection of two bids for a $34,171 Crawford county road improvement project was announced here today by county commissioners, who said they will continue their efforts to obtain federal aid for the project.

Walter Sargel of Galion, commissioners' chairman, said a conference would be held this week in Columbus with State Highway department officials concerning the feasibility of obtaining "matching funds" for the work.

The project embraces the resurfacing of 17 miles of county roads. Only two bids have been submitted. The Bucyrus Materials company bid $34,226 and the Fenton Construction company of Ashland, $32,438.

American and Alaskan fishermen hauled in 4,500,000,000 pounds of fish and shellfish last year.

WEDDING DATE REVEALED AT ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

September 10 Chosen As Date For Wentz-Freiheit Nuptial Exchange

SEPTEMBER 10 is the date chosen by Miss Beverly Jane Wentz for her marriage to Anton J. Freiheit. The approaching nuptials were revealed at an announcement party given by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Linnie Wentz, 200 Lind avenue, and Mrs. Walter Wentz, sister-in-law.

Fourteen were in attendance for the affair held at the Wentz home from 2 to 4 o'clock. One out-of-town guest, Mrs. Roger Steinebrey of Minneapolis, Minn., was in attendance.

The table from which the lunch was served was centered with a crystal swan filled with blue, yellow and white gladioli tip corsages, which were later presented to the guests. Trailing from the blossoms was a blue streamer with a tag attached to announce the date. Also carrying out the color scheme of blue, yellow and white was a decorated cake with "Bev and Tony, September 10" inscribed.

The couple will exchange vows September 10 in St. Peter's rectory. The wedding ceremony will be informal.

Mrs. Adam Freiheit, sister-in-law of the bridegroom-to-be, will serve as their only attendant.

Miss Wentz is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and is a voice student with Miss Florence MacDonald. She is employed at the Richland Mutual Insurance company. Mr. Freiheit graduated from St. Peter's high school and served in the U. S. Navy in the South Pacific theater. He is an employe of Omar bakery.

If the sand at the seashore tears your fingernails, dig your nails into a cake of soap before you set out for the beach. This way, the sand won't get between the skin and the nail to cause any trouble.

Miss Kelly Entertains College Friend

Miss Janet Kelly, 135 Carpenter road entertained in honor of a college friend, Miss Janice Arnholt, of Loudonville, bride-elect of the Rev. Edward Wolf, Jelloway, Ohio. The luncheon was held at Westbrook Country club Saturday afternoon.

Five out-of-town guests were present for the pantry party. They were Mrs. Robert Arnholt, Mrs. Harold Grabau, Mrs. Floyd McClure, Miss Helen Russell and Mrs. Elmer Stitzlein, all of Loudonville.

The luncheon was served at a table centered with a floral arrangement of purple and white flowers. The place cards carried out the color scheme.

Miss Arnholt received her gifts in the card room. They were presented to her in small shopping baskets.

Miss Arnholt and Miss Kelly attended Miami University during the same years and Miss Kelly has been chosen to serve as one of the bridesmaids for the formal wedding. Other attendants will be Mrs. Robert Arnholt, sister-in-law of the bride-elect, matron of honor, and Miss Ellen Gilman of West Virginia, bridesmaid, also a college friend.

The couple will exchange nuptial vows Sunday, August 7, in the Zion Lutheran church at 4:30 o'clock. The Rev. Harold Grabau will officiate for the wedding and a lawn reception will follow at the parsonage.

The Rev. Wolf is minister of the Lutheran church of Jelloway.

Kuntz-Jurgens Vows Exchanged In St. Peter's

During an informal wedding ceremony Monday morning at 9 30 o'clock in St. Peter's Catholic church, Miss Frances Isabel Kuntz became the bride of Joseph B. Jurgens. Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiated for the double ring, open church service. White beauty baskets were placed at the communion rail which was banked with palms and ferns. The background for the altar was of palms and ferns.

Miss Kuntz is the daughter of Mrs. Addie Kuntz, 48 Douglas avenue, and Mr. Jurgens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Jurgens, 335 Marion avenue.

The bride chose a powder pink suit for her wedding. With this she wore a large hand woven straw colored bonnet with pink ribbon trim. A fan of white rosebuds which Miss Kuntz carried matched the white accessories which completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Charles Eaton, sister of the bridegroom, was her only attendant. She was attired in an aqua suit with a straw hat with aqua trim and white accessories. Mrs. Eaton carried a fan of pink carnations.

Mrs. Jurgens chose a grey dress with a lace bodice and gold accessories for her son's marriage. She wore a yellow rosebud corsage.

Charles Eaton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Guests were escorted to their pews by Thomas Jurgens, brother of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the Sky club for the families of the bridal party.

The couple will honeymoon at Niagara Falls and Canada. Upon their return, August 1, they will reside in their new home, 152 Ohio street.

Mrs. Jurgens graduated from Radnor high school, Delaware, and until recently employed at at the Westinghouse electric corpartion. Mr. Jurgens, a graduate of St. Peter's high school, attended Dayton University and is now an employe of the Westinghouse Electric corpation.

Out-of-town guests present at the ceremony were in attendance from Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Dover.

Consider Presence of Child When Discussing Others

By GARRY MYERS, Ph. D.

A big mistake that parents often make (and all of us may make sometimes) is to discuss with another person the child's traits and behavior good or bad in his presence, as if he were a dumb animal or lifeless object

There are times when to speak to another person, say a guest, of some good trait or achievement won by the child's own effort can be wholesome for this child to hear, assuming it might cause him to strive harder in his faithfulness at caring for a pet; his doing school assignments regularly on his own initiative, his doing regular jobs about the home without having to be prompted; or some practice of his in unselfishness Even to urge the tot to show a guest something he has created or to induce the child eight, ten or fourteen to show a guest into this child's workshop to see his tools and what he has made can be very wholesome

But to brag about his youngster in his presence so as to suggest he is superior to other children in physical appearance or in smartness in conventional expressions and learnings or to play up any trait in him before others in his hearing, which he has not acquired through his own effort, can do him great harm as you can easily see

It's the child under four or five who may be harmed most by hearing of how smart he is Think of all the parents and grandparents who will often talk right before this youngster of the "unusual things" he has said or done And these things might not be at all unusual but only seem so to be to the bragging relatives The youngster supposes, of course, that he must be very superior As a result he grows less likable to other children of his age and to most adults and is headed for a lot of unhappiness Why do so many parents and grandparents talk of young children before them as if these youngsters were no more than pets or toys for amusement?

A very subtle human urge causes parents and grandparents to treat children so — urge to gain a feeling of self-importance It reveals a possessive attitude in them toward the child As he belongs to me his exploits are mine" So when a relative brags about the wonders of a child this relative is saying subtly "Look at me"

This powerful urge causes some parents to try to get their tot to "spout off pieces" They may be vexed at the youngster if he doesn't want to say back rhymes and the like to them This same urge causes some parents to teach the preschool child to read, count far and do sums — for friends to marvel at

Any child who before six can say and do much that is usually learned after entering the first grade at school may get plaudits from doting adults, growing less attractive the while to other children of his age (My bulletin, "Your Child and His Playmates" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper)

Parents and grandparents who consider the young child as a growing personality try so to behave toward him as to let him grow up normally and be himself and not as if he were a pet or toy to amuse their adult friends and push out thier own wishbones with pride Tomorrow we shall consider the evils of discussing the shortcomings of children in their presence with other adults

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Wednesday, July 27

While affairs of all character are destined to move into new grooves and under particularly high tension or excitement, yet disaster or an unlooked-for or unplanned denouement could be brought about by too ardent, reckless, unorthodox or ungoverned urges or impulses While romance and high adventure spur to vigorous action, possible in fresh pastures or in strange avenues of accomplishment, yet disruption might follow rash or ill-considered moves, in private and business relations Prudence, forethought, regulated urges could produce spectular results

Those whose birthday it is, are on the brink of a particularly dynamic and exciting course of events, with novelty, adventure, far fields and curious fancies, bringing thrilling and spectacular culminations, both in private life and in major business alliances But an impulsive, wayward erratic or tempestuous mode of acton could prove devastating and disruptive, with the best of plans or opportunities blasted by a whirlwind of untoward events, unforeseen and unpredictable, with composure, studied plans and regulated emotions the finale might be thrillingly productive and joyous Count the cost before plunging into wild hazards through erratic drives

A child born on this day while valiant, ardent and possessing exceptional ingenuity and originality, may jeopardize its rare opportunities by eccentric, reckless or temperamental urges.

Secretaries Prefer Male Boss

Ten to one, women would rather work for a male executive than his feminine counterpart, reports Charm, the magazine for the business girl, after an Office Routine" poll of typical young business girls in thirty two cities across the country

Among the suggestions for improving office routine, Charm's readers think that their bosses should set aside a specific time of day for dictation This way, the girls could plan their work accordingly, and from volume of dictation, they would know whether they were required to stay after hours to finish up

A fifteen - minute break in the morning and afternoon would result in less wandering away from desks and less time spent in rest rooms, Charm's readers declared

While business girls are against the girl who rehashes last night's date via the office phone, they do feel that the boss should let his employe's conscience be the guide on the matter of personal phone calls If some abuse the privilege, then discipline the culprits, not the whole office

Pet peeves of secretaries are bosses who smoke a cigar while dictating and those who seem to be dictating to someone outside the window!

The majority of girls polled felt that their employers had a sense of humor that they usually gave clear instructions and that they were courteous But they had one completely feminine request to make When your secretary is wearing a new dress or a new hat, please, Boss, notice it!

Watch For Webworm and Eggs

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Central Press Association

It's time to keep on the alert for signs of two potential enemies of trees and shrubs around the home grounds. These are the fall webworm and the eggs of the tussock moth.

The nest of the fall webworm is shown in the accompanying Garden - Graph. It is usually found hanging from the tip branches of a fruit or other type of tree. It encloses many caterpillars, as illustrated, which feed upon the foliage of the branches covered by the web.

If you are lucky enough to find only a few webs among your trees they can be easily removed by cutting off the tip branches to which they are attached and then burning both twigs and web. Another control method is to spray with arsenate of lead.

Keep on the watch also for the egg masses of the tussock moth. The eggs are laid during August in a mass of somewhat oval form as illustrated. These egg masses will be found on the trunk and larger limbs of trees. Each mass generally measures 1¼ inches in length by ½ inch in width. Some 300 to 400 eggs remain in this mass over winter and hatch the following spring into minute caterpillars.

To protect trees from the tussock moth caterpillar, collect and destroy all egg masses you find. Give your trees a good inspection later in the fall just after the leaves have fallen.

Band the trees in the spring with tanglefoot paper before the middle of May. The female cannot fly, consequently trees once freed of this pest and banded each spring at the proper time are protected.

Lamb Pool Set For Thursday

The Richland - Huron county lamb pool will be held in Greenwich Thursday, a month earlier than the first pool last year, County Agent C. N. McGrew said today.

McGrew said lamb prices are good and that farmers are fortunate if they have lambs to sell at this time.

Richland county members of the sheep and lamb improvement committee include Roscoe Hutchinson, Plymouth, R. D. 1; H. H. Wolf, Shelby, R. D. 1; Paul Kranz, Shiloh; C. R. Mengert, Lucas; Laurance Faulkner, Shelby, R. D. 3; and Lester Lantz, Mansfield, R. D. 1.
